Three From Wellsville Advance To County Bee

WELLSVILLE CHAMPIONS. These spellers advanced to the Columbiana County finals at Lisbon April 22 by taking honors in the Wellsville public school bee Monday afternoon. Left to right are Roxie Wright, Wilbur Waggoner Jr. and Ellen Rodgers.

A repeat performance was registered in the spelling bee finals for the Wellsville public school system Monday afternoon when the winner and first runnerup from last year placed the same again this year.

The winner was Wilbur Waggoner Jr., 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Waggoner of 18th St. Heights, while Miss Roxie Wright, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wright, 2011 Clark Ave., again placed second.

The third-place winner was Miss Ellen Rodgers, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry K. Rodgers, 501 Aten Ave. She placed fourth last year.

All three are eighth-graders at Daw Junior High School and advance to the county finals at Lisbon April 22.

Miss Wright missed the word "assimilate," inserting a "u" instead of the second "i." Waggoner spelled the word correctly and clinched the title with "asylum."

Miss Rodgers went down on the word "antique," using a "g" instead of the "q."

Both Waggoner and Miss Wright spelled about 12 words apiece after Miss Rodgers was eliminated.

Fifteen spellers were left at the end of the ninth round. Three were left standing at the end of the 21st round.

Waggoner was presented a trophy for being the champion speller, plus a trophy for being champion speller of Daw Junior High. He also received a crown from Supt. Lowell Myers. Miss Wright and Miss Rodgers also received trophies.

Others participating in the bee were:

Daw Junior High — Brenda Huyghe, Chris Call, Carolyn Cathell, Gloria Coleman, Mary McWilliams, Joe Scarbino, Daryl West, Dawn Williams, Vickie Gualtier, Gary Smith, David Groves, William Sines, Brenda Williams, May White and Frank Simms.

Hancock Battle Joined

Weirton Group Granted Injunction In Tax Case

Eight Weirton property owners challenging the real estate reappraisal program carried out in Hancock County have apparently won the first round in their legal battle with County Court, the assessor and West Virginia's state tax commissioner.

A temporary injunction prohibiting county and state from levying taxes on their property was granted Monday by Judge James G. McClure in Circuit Court in New Cumberland.

THE SUIT of the Weirton group, represented by Atty. Frank A. Pietranon, represents the first court challenge of the statewide property reappraisal program.

The eight propertyowners seek court orders to bar the Hancock County Court and assessor from carrying out an order which it entered March 29.

This called for redetermining assessed valuations of property on the basis of a completed professional appraisal of Hancock County property conducted by Cole, Lyster & Tumble of Dayton.

The County Court entered the March 29 order after G. Thomas Battle, state tax commissioner, had directed it to re-assess property in accordance with the property reappraisal program laws.

IN GRANTING the temporary injunction, Judge McClure set April 18 as the date to hear arguments on a dismissal order filed at Monday's hearing by representatives of the state tax commissioner's and attorney general's offices.

But the temporary injunction was granted until April 18 by Judge McClure and the Weirton group apparently won the first legal round.

The suit attacks procedures which followed in Hancock under the reappraisal and property as-

Fall Short To Command House

Liberals Win In Canada; Pearson Due As Premier

TORONTO (AP)—The Liberals, who ruled for 22 years until John G. Diefenbaker came along, re-emerged as Canada's top party today but without a hands-down majority. As a result the nation faces the possibility of more weeks of indecision in government.

Returns from Monday's voting showed Lester B. Pearson's Liberals just short of the 133 seats needed to command the House of Commons over the combined strength of opposition parties. Pearson expressed hope that the vote from the armed services overseas may shift the picture. It is to be announced next week.

Nearly complete returns gave the Liberals 126 seats, the Conservatives 94, Social Credit 24 and the New Democratic party 17.

This left only four seats undecided.

By the usual standards, the party gaining most seats in the House of Commons names the prime minister. This would entitle Pearson, at 65, to take over the leadership he failed to gain in two previous attempts.

But Diefenbaker hinted that he intends to hold onto the top job—at least until the parties line up when Parliament meets next month.

Diefenbaker said the situation appeared to him to be much like that which prevailed in 1925 when the Liberal Party led by W.L. Mackenzie King made a smaller showing than the Conservatives but chose to stay in office by collaborating with other parties.

Diefenbaker, who was at home in Saskatchewan, indicated his course might be clarified when he holds a Cabinet meeting on his return to Ottawa.

"I will leave to Mr. Diefenbaker to decide what his own responsibility is. I know what mine is," Pearson said.

He expressed belief that Parliament should be called quickly after the Council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization holds a long-scheduled meeting in Ottawa May 22.

The Nato meeting will be looking for Canada's answer to the question whether it should accept nuclear warheads for Bomarc missiles based in Canada and for Canadian interceptor forces in Europe.

Numbers Slip Defendants Ask Law Test

LISBON — Four Pittsburgh officers of the Lisbon Sales Book Co. intend to ask the State Supreme Court to rule whether Ohio's new anti-gambling law is constitutional.

R. Brooke Alloway of Columbus, attorney for the men, indicated this will be his next move after a conference Monday with G. William Brockaw, Columbiana County prosecutor.

The four have been charged with printing numbers wagering slips in violation of the new state law.

They are Martin Sufirin, company president; Isadore Sufirin, vice president; Joseph Sufirin, secretary - treasurer, and Michael Scheidelmeyer, general manager.

All have been free on $1,000 bond. They were charged after former Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy led a raid on the firm in September 1961.

Judge Joel H. Sharp originally dismissed the indictments, contending the law was inconsistent with state and federal Constitutions. He said the law does not take into consideration the intention or knowledge by the manufacturer of the use to which the printed slips are put.

Rusk Urges Group In Paris To Head Off 'Aggravation'

BULLETIN
PARIS (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today the United States and South Viet Nam governments have made important strides in their efforts to control Communist subversion in that Southeast Asian country.

PARIS (AP)—Ministers of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization go behind closed doors today to study ways to prevent lightning from the war clouds in Laos from striking neighboring Thailand.

Soviet Warns U.S. On NATO A-Force

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union has told the United States the creation of a multinational nuclear force under NATO will "unleash a race in rocket-nuclear armaments," Tass said today.

The statement was made in a Soviet government note to the United States handed by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko to the U.S. ambassador in Moscow Monday.

The prospect that the pro-Communist Pathet Lao would take over all of northern Laos spurred urgent consultations among the foreign ministers of the eight SEATO nations, whose alliance is aimed at keeping the Communists from taking over Southeast Asia.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk Monday urged all signers of the 1962 agreement neutralizing Laos to "prevent further aggravation of the situation."

The signers include the Soviet Union and Communist China. British Foreign Secretary Lord Home told the ministerial council that his ambassador in Moscow, Sir Humphrey Trevelyan, has been in close contact with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko on the situation.

Sargus' Bills Approved By Senate, House

By WILLIAM S. VANCE
Review Correspondent
COLUMBUS — Bills sponsored by Sen. Edmund A. Sargus, D-St. Clairsville, found easy sledding Monday night in the Senate and House.

The Senate approved 24-4 Sargus' bill to license and regulate auto junk yards. At the same time, the House passed 109-9 a bill cosponsored by Sargus and Sen. Robert Stockdale, R-Kent, to extend Ohio's drunk driving law to cover 3.2 beer.

The junk yard bill, which now goes to the House, would require dealers to obtain a $100 license from the county auditor, renewable for $25 a year. All fees would go to the county's general fund.

A dealer could not obtain a license if his yard were within 1,000 feet of a state or county highway or within 300 feet of a township road unless it were fenced or naturally obscured.

The bill applies only to junk yards outside of municipalities.

All existing and future junk yards in unincorporated areas would have to be licensed, but only those established or expanded after Jan. 1, 1964, would have to be fenced.

Thus a dealer with an existing junk yard near a highway would not have to fence it unless he enlarged it.

Violators of the licensing provisions would be subject to fines of up to $1,000.

Freeway Extension Link

Route 170 Ramp Will Go Into Use

"Operation Switchover" goes into effect at the Route 170 intersection with the new Freeway Extension Wednesday, when motorists will begin using a new ramp approach to Routes 7-30.

The present downhill Route 170 approach will be closed permanently to permit the Great Lakes Construction Co., freeway contractors, to grade and prepare another link with Route 30, according to Mike Pierry, superintendent.

The picture shows present Route 30 diagonally across the aerial view with the present narrow 170 link connecting on the left and the new wider section of cloverleaf approach and twin-bridge to the right.

Only one side of the twin-bridge is completed enough for traffic so one-lane traffic will be in effect until further progress is made on the project, Pierry said.

Concrete has not been poured yet from the bridge to Route 30, but a temporary gravel surface will be utilized.

The board, 200-foot-long twin span, being built by the John Hill Contracting Co. of Lexington, will carry traffic over the new Freeway Extension.

The present contract for the four-lane highway does not extend as far as the bridge, officials of the firm said, but the highway will be carried under the span and further northwest with the next contract.

The present Route 170 approach to the main road will be torn up, and the terrain graded and roadbed prepared for a county road exit link from the freeway to Route 170.

Pierry said the firm expects to start pouring concrete for the new roadway around May 1.

The contract price is $2,796,405. Work is expected to be finished late this fall, although the official completion date is July 31, 1964.

Lisbon Eyes Land For Site Of Standpipe

Council Authorizes Option For Board Of Public Affairs

LISBON — Village Council acted Monday night to acquire an option to purchase a 125-x-125-foot tract of ground off Route 45 about a quarter mile from the community as a future site for a new water standpipe.

The action was taken at the request of Russell (Dutch) Shaw, a member of the Board of Public Affairs, who said the department would pay the purchase price of $1,000. The ground is owned by Mrs. Ruth Riddle.

Shaw told Council the Board of Public Affairs will use the land as the site of a future standpipe. Water pressure in the area has been low, he said.

Since the village annexed land east of Route 45, owned by Robert Williams, additional water supply would be required in case the tract is laid out in lots and a building program begins, Shaw said.

Rights from Mrs. Riddle would include access to the property over her land.

In other business, Council accepted a petition from Raphael E. Darcy, Wanda M. Darcy, Anne Brennan and Betty J. Zahndt to close a 20-x-165-foot alley between Lots No. 3 and 4 in the S. J. Firestone addition off W. Chestnut St. The unused alley has been planted in grass for several years, authorities said.

Council authorized publication of the petition as a legal notice for six weeks. Then the way will

Top Actor, Actress

Peck, Bancroft Capture Oscars

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Gregory Peck, a four-time loser in the Oscar finals, and Anne Bancroft, an actress Hollywood once ignored, are winners of the movies best actor and best actress awards for 1962.

"Lawrence of Arabia" was named the year's best film Monday night at the 35th annual Academy Awards ceremony, and a grandfather, Ed Begley, and a teen-ager, Patty Duke, won best supporting actor and actress honors.

Miss Duke, who played the child Helen Keller in "The Miracle Worker," is the first juvenile ever to win an Academy Award. Shirley Temple, among others, have received honorary awards in the past.

In a glamor-packed setting at Santa Monica Civic Auditorium, the taciturn Peck confessed that he came to the show "prepared to be a graceful loser."

"I'm just a little stunned about the whole thing. It really staggered me," Peck said.

Then he pulled out a gold pocket watch from his vest. "Harper Lee mailed it to me just this morning. She said it belonged to her father and he wore it for 60 years and she wanted me to wear it to the Academy Awards. She also said she dropped it in the grave when she was 6 years old. I was clutching it when my name was called."

State Proposal Approved

Wellsville School Board Urges Boost In Sales Tax

A resolution urging adoption of a 4 per cent sales tax amendment by the State Legislature was approved by the Wellsville Board of Education Monday night.

The board also accepted the resignations of three instructors and a custodian, hired a new custodian and approved a driver education program for the summer.

Copies of the resolution will be sent to Gov. James Rhodes, Rep. Clarence Wetzel, Sen. Edmund Sargus and the chairmen of the senate and house education committees.

The board urges that the state sales tax program be broadened and increased from 3 per cent to 4 per cent and the cigarette tax be increased one cent per pack, with the money earmarked for schools.

In the resolution, the board points out that in the recommended state budget, the increased $130 million biennium necessary for

Fingerprints May Be Clue In Safe 'Job'

Lock Experts Open Race Track Office's Battered Strongbox

Hancock County sheriff's deputies are examining fingerprints lifted in a vault room at Waterford Park race track where burglars bungled an attempted safe-cracking over the weekend.

Track officials discovered the hacked-up, blackened safe Monday morning at 8:44, still warm to the touch from the heat of an acetylene torch utilized in the abortive burglary.

The heavy, steel floor-type safe had been battered extensively. The door was so badly jammed that experts from Pittsburgh had to be summoned to pry it open.

The contents, amounting to an estimated $250,000, according to unofficial reports, were found in-

Parking Check Slated Until 5 On Wednesday

Parking meter regulations will be enforced until 5 p. m. Wednesday because East Liverpool stores will skip their usual noon closing tomorrow to remain open a full day. Safety - Service Director Robert Owen warned motorists today.

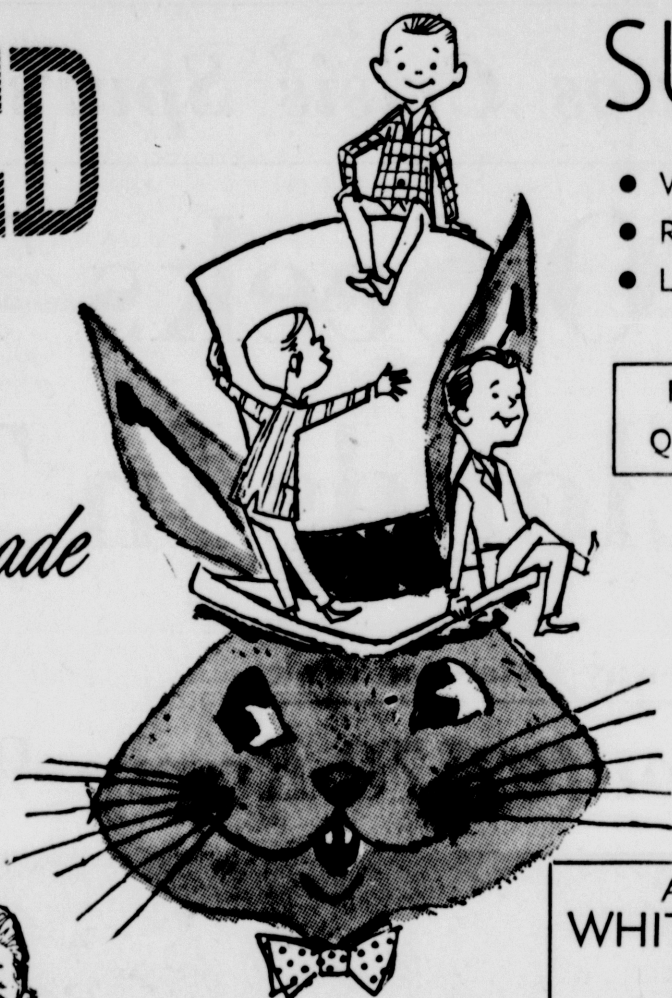

The city normally halts meter enforcement at noon each Wednesday, when stores close. However, the business places have extended their hours tomorrow because of the Easter season shopping rush, the director explained.

The city makes it a practice to extend the meter enforcement to match store hours.

Officers Cite Chester Man On 2 Charges

A 62-year-old Chester man was cited on two charges Monday night after his auto collided with an oncoming truck on Dresden Ave. at Trentvale St., police reported.

R. F. Faudree, 325 3rd St., was charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol and failure to yield half of the highway to an oncoming vehicle following a mishap at 8:32 p. m. that damaged his 1962 four-door sedan and a 1953 model truck operated by L. J. Lemley, 48, of Clarksburg.

Faudree told police it started to rain as he drove toward the downtown section about 20 miles an hour. When he turned on the windshield wipers, the glass was obscured by dirt and he could not see properly, he said.

Lemley told police he was out-bound in his truck about 20 miles an hour when he saw Faudree's car headed for him. He said he pulled almost entirely off the highway, but the auto hit the left rear of the truck. Patrolman William A. Devon investigated.

The crash damaged the grill and the left front fender, tire and rim of the auto and the left rear wheel of the truck, officers said.

Arraigned today before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, Faudree pleaded not guilty to the drunken driving charge.

"I was sick, not drunk," Faudree said. The defendant said he was en route home from Cleveland Clinic, where he had been given medication. He said he took a drink of whiskey to "settle my nerves" and the combination of medicine and alcohol made him ill.

Faudree was released on a $500 bond for a hearing Monday at 9 a. m.

Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark indicated he will not be prosecuted on the second charge of failure to yield half the highway to an oncoming vehicle.

A broken A-frame — the support for a front wheel — was blamed for another mishap on Anderson Blvd. Monday at 7:06 p. m. in which a woman driver lost control of her auto and hit a parked car, police said.

The 1957 auto of Dorothy Gamble, 29, of 1142 Harker Ave. hit a parked 1955 auto owned by James Frontz, 1890 Anderson Blvd., officers said.

The woman said she lost control of her car as she turned off Park Way onto Anderson Blvd. She said she was unable to steer the car after rounding the turn.

Patrolman Jack Strobel, who investigated, said it was apparent the A-frame had snapped on the Gamble car. The crash caused slight damage to the left front and side of the Gamble car and damaged the left rear of the Frontz auto, he said.

Inquest Held In Drowning

NEW CUMBERLAND — A coroner's jury investigating the circumstances surrounding the death of 11-year-old Nancy Lee Billiter heard testimony from six persons in an inquest Monday night in the office of Squire John D. Herron, Hancock County coroner.

The six-member panel returned a verdict that the child died Friday at 12:40 p. m. "as a result of drowning, the same being self-imposed."

The panel heard testimony from Police Chief William Webster, William Wells, who discovered the child's body Sunday morning in the Ohio River, three youngsters who said they read a farewell note written by the tot, and a classmate who saw her last near the stream.

The inquest lasted an hour and the coroner's jury returned its verdict only a few minutes after the testimony concluded.

Apparently emotionally upset over an incident with her mother during the noon lunch hour Friday, the child is presumed to have written a note and waded into the stream at the foot of Taylor St.

The youngsters said the note read "My mother and father does not want me around home any more."

If your carburetor is dirty, Boron® will clean it!

If your carburetor is clean, Boron will keep it clean!

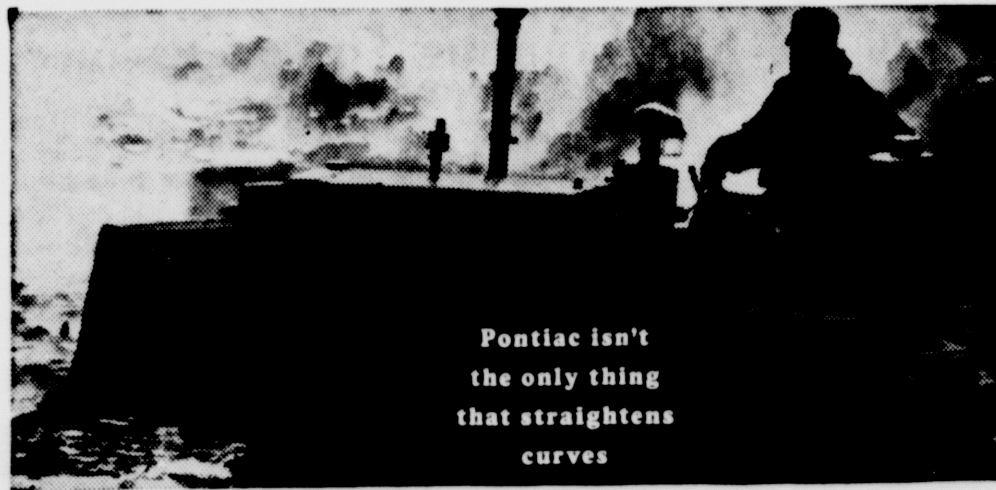

CARBURETORS GET DIRTY AROUND THE THROTTLE PLATE Notice the dirt deposits in the carburetor section on the left. They have formed a hard ledge around the throttle plate. The cause of the problem? Tiny particles of dirt. The air that comes into your carburetor contains these particles. They are too small to be caught by your air cleaner. They can stick to carburetor walls in the throttle plate section and, in time, build up into deposits. This condition can block the air flow to your engine when you're idling. Result: stalling, rough idling, wasted gasoline.

CARBURETORS GET CLEAN, STAY CLEAN WITH BORON Look at the carburetor section on the right. No deposit here! The special Carburetor Cleaner in Boron dissolves dirt deposits and washes them away. Because the deposits are hard, the cleaning process may take time. But the end result will be a Boron Clean Carburetor. Once clean, your carburetor will stay clean with regular use of Boron. The special Carburetor Cleaner is so effective that it keeps new deposits from forming! Always use Boron to keep your carburetor clean.

No Specialists Should Be Needed

This time next week, the great income tax ordeal by confiscation and exemption will be all over but the recriminations.

Another federal income tax deadline will have been reached.

Taxpayers who thought they had paid through the nose beyond any point of reason will have found they owe still more. Many will have to borrow money to cover their obligations to a government whose tax rates according to its own admission are confiscatory.

Other taxpayers will wonder for months and even years to come if all the exemptions they claimed were permissible and if the specialists whose services they hired to steer them through the intricacies of a law so hodge-podge that no one can say exactly what it means were good enough to keep them out of trouble.

APRIL 15 is the annual deadline for wishing something could be done about the federal income tax. If it cannot be made less confiscatory, it might be made less confusing.

What honest people want is a simplified system of levying federal income tax that will make it possible for any taxpayer to know at a glance what he owes and to know that every other taxpayer is in the same situation.

What honest people want is the privilege of paying their income tax without wondering if they took advantage of all the loopholes and rat-holes built into the tax structure by pressure blocs and muscled minorities that wanted a way out when the revenue agents knocked at the front door.

It could be done. But no one thinks it will be done, because the defenders of the loopholes and rat-holes are so much more determined than the people who wouldn't know how to use a loophole if they saw one.

IT SHOULD be possible to figure a percentage of what an income earner took in and know he owed that much to the federal government, no more, no less — no exemptions, no exceptions, no deductions, no percentage of one thing and not of another thing.

The thing that keeps it from happening is the opposition of the people who have something to gain by keeping the income tax structure so confused it requires a specialist to know its twisting and turnings.

A Few Oscars Of Our Own

Hollywood passed out its Oscars Monday night. Here are a few of our own:

To those who think optimistically of East Liverpool's future and are ready to do all within their power to make this optimism become a reality;

To those in Hancock County, or anywhere else for that matter, who have the courage to battle for right over wrong despite the many obstacles that may rise in their path;

To those who go through the battle of the budget day after day—paying the butcher the baker, the candlestick maker and all the others;

To those who fight it out in the "Battle of the Bulge", snubbing the sundae, the pastries, the potatoes and the other starchy foods which make the going so rough;

To those who follow the traffic laws to the letter, with highway safety ever foremost in their minds;

To those who can root, root, root for the home team win or lose;

And, finally, to all who have the stamina and faith to carry on to the best of their ability in the small niche they occupy in the sometimes heart-breaking, sometimes gratifying, sometimes terrifying, sometimes satisfying, but always challenging world of today.

Staying In Tune

Musicians from East Liverpool and other district high schools have done well in the annual spring competition.

Their excellent showing is a credit not only to themselves, but to the music teachers who work so diligently with them and to the schools they represent.

The high ratings that have been brought home once more testify to the quality of the musical instruction in area schools.

Proposition Not Proved

A transit bill approved by the U.S. Senate would give the government authority to commit three-quarters of a billion dollars to a proposition so shaky it couldn't attract $100 in Confederate money in some communities.

The proposition is that Americans who commute to urban centers can be persuaded to ride buses, trains and, presumably, monorails — if this latest form of transportation is offered.

The proposition assumes that if other transportation is made available the commuters will abandon their private automobiles in sufficiently large numbers to relieve traffic congestion in to central areas.

The trouble is, however, that nothing anyone has thought of so far has weaned enough commuters from their cars to make any appreciable difference in traffic congestion. Ridership on mass transportation fluctuates from time to time and from city to city, but in the long view it keeps moving downward.

To the disgust of the mass transporters, people like to use their own cars. They like to go and come at their own convenience, even if it means traffic jams. They cheerfully concede the logic of mass transportation but just as cheerfully keep on battling traffic and operating expenses because they do not live by logic.

If they did, they wouldn't be going to work day after day in big-city rabbit warrens. In many instances, they do it because they find it exciting and apparently the ordeal of getting there and back in their own cars is part of the excitement for millions of them.

No one has changed their minds about this yet.

Not Since Eliza And The Hounds

It would be strange in a country where man is dog's best friend and vice versa if the use of trained dogs by police to terrorize Negroes in Birmingham, Ala., did not stir the public conscience.

The use of dogs in war can be tolerated; an enemy has been designated officially. But racial friction in Birmingham is not combat for national survival.

The dogs used there to terrorize Negroes and keep them from assembling in public demonstrations of their right to vote are not attacking criminals. The Negroes' offense is not against the law, but against officers of the law who have the peculiar responsibility in Birmingham of denying the rights of the law to citizens who are not white.

Safety Margin

By Truman Twill

Be assured, readers, that the question never came up in connection with this writer's experience in school, but is there any danger of overtaxing Johnny's and Susie's little brains with too much learning?

Must we protect the kiddies from over-exercitation in the classroom and with homework? Is there danger that if we hammer away at them too hard their little brains will go bonking and they will spend the rest of their lives being idiots?

Let's not be silly.

There is no more danger of hurting a kid's mind by overtraining it than there is in listening too hard or breathing too much. If maximum effort were represented by 100, most kids never go over 20 per cent in their entire educational experience.

And if maximum educational attainment were represented by 100, most learnable kids would level off around 10. All the rest is safety margin.

Where the idea came from that children must be protected against too much effort and, indeed, too much education, is uncertain. Mothers are heard to say they object to their children's head being crammed so full they might burst.

Whenever it's proposed that schools buckle down in earnest to the job of education and let someone else worry about baby-sitting, the bitter truth comes out. Many people resent education. School yes. Education no.

They went to school themselves without worrying about education, and what was good enough for them is good enough for their children.

They have been able to get along without much more than knowing how to read and write at a minimum level and don't want their offspring to be getting fancy ideas in a workaday world.

It isn't whimsy that causes politicians to sneer at "brain-trusters" and "eggheads." It's the sure instinct of the vote-getter about what to hate that will do him the most good at the polls.

Many of us, perhaps most of us, feel contempt for highly educated people. They are "intellectual snobs," "bookworms" and "grinds" — and a pox on them.

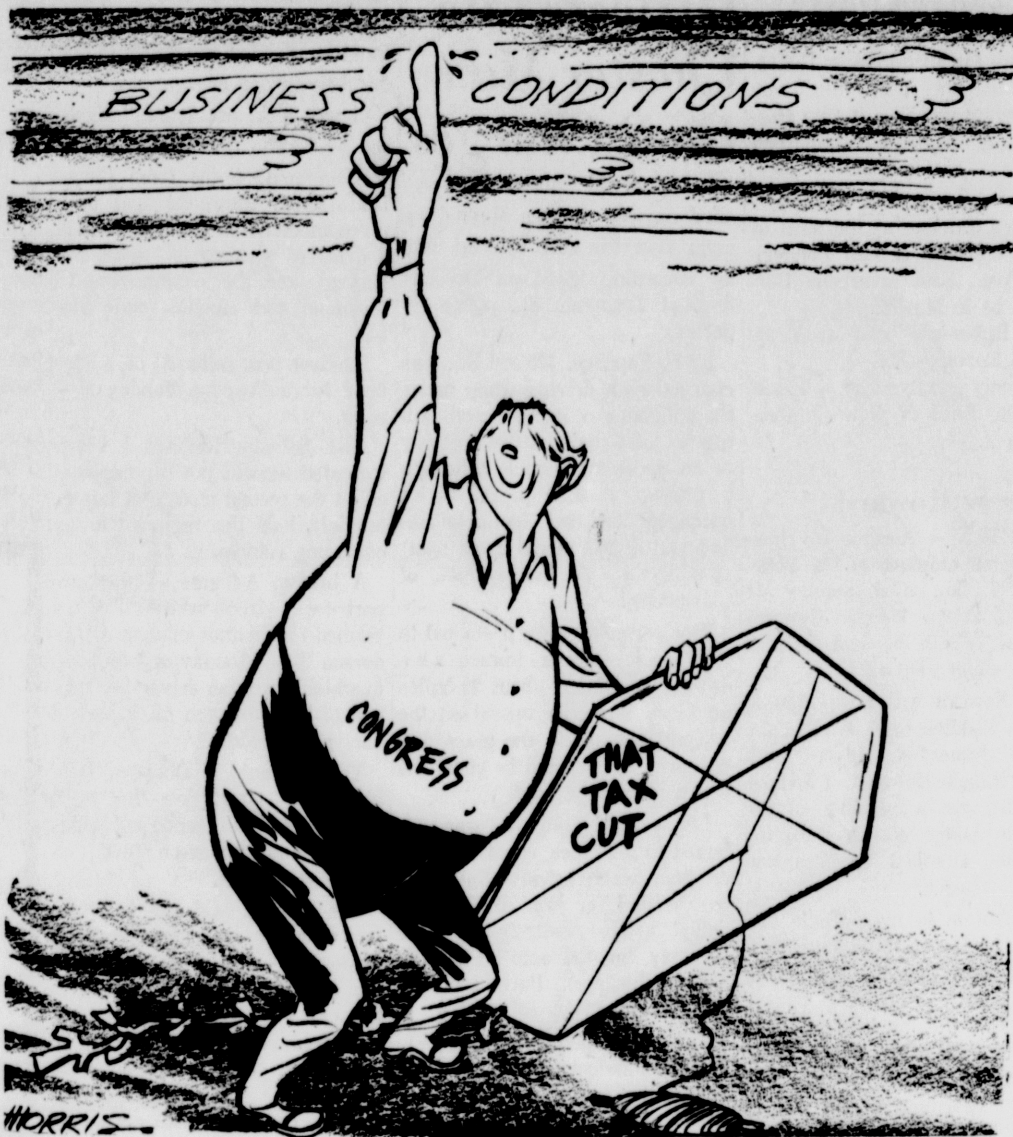

Worst of all, they may have had something to do with Harvard University, than which nothing could be more darkly suspect in this republic. Harvard? Imagine.

This has been a problem in the United States for generations. The point is, it's a problem that must be faced up to in connection with every move to improve education.

Education is too important to be left to the whims and mischiefs of its enemies, which is what we do in effect when we leave decisions about it to people who think the way they were educated was so all-fired good it couldn't be improved on.

That's the dead giveaway. No person who thinks it, much less preaches it, is qualified to cope with the problems of education.

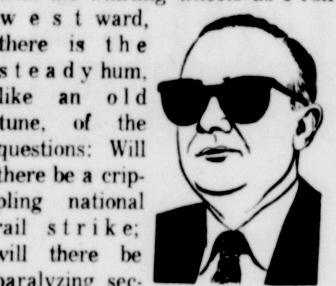

All Depends On How The Wind Blows

Only Compromise Will Nip Rail Strike

By Victor Riesel

KANSAS CITY, MO. This is being written in the dome car of the Santa Fe's crack train, "The Chief." In harmony with the whirling wheels as I roll westward, there is the steady hum, like an old tune, of the questions: Will there be a crippling national rail strike; will there be paralyzing sectional strikes next June? After discussions in the nation's railroad capitals the report here must be — yes, if the lines go through with what is their absolute right under the Supreme Court decision and gradually end all 40,000 locomotive firemen jobs on freight trains and in railroad yard service.

If there is compromise there will be no strike. President Kennedy's three-man emergency board is supposed to be a fact-finding commission. But everybody knows the facts. Privately Mr. Kennedy has asked the board to mediate a compromise. Where it's possible?

SPECIALISTS on the side of the five operating unions point to freight trains which are pulled by more than one oil-burning Diesel locomotive. Further west, when the big, fast through-freights reach the mountain grades, I was told there are sometimes as many as 14 such locomotives pulling a long train.

Across the United States the average is three locomotives. Many times four are hooked up. Single units are used in yards and for local freight runs. These union experts will argue that the fireman is needed to check such hook-ups of three to 14 locomotives if there is difficulty. The engineer cannot leave his cab, they say. Thus, though there is no longer any old-fashioned open-mouthed furnace to stoke, the fireman's spot itself should be a permanent one on such runs.

This would mean that thousands would keep their jobs and be replaced when they retire, or quit, or die, or are discharged for cause.

Under the present ruling the railroads have the right to lay off some 13,000 younger firemen and then wipe the job itself out.

As for the other 27,000 firemen, they have a guarantee of lifetime jobs — but not necessarily as firemen.

THE RAILROADS do not have to replace them as they retire or pass on. The issue then is whether or not there actually will be a permanent category of freight train firemen or whether it will disappear.

If it looks like the job slot will disappear, it looks like there will be a strike.

Listening to a discussion of railroad labor laws is like breaking in on conversationalists using the jargon of abstract astralmathematics. But in essence the unions of on-train workers say there are still other areas of compromise.

These unions want some work rules changes themselves. They want a six, instead of an eight-hour day at no reduction in pay. On a six-day week schedule this would give them a 36-hour week. The railroads say that if a man finishes his day's run in six hours, he should put the other two hours in at straight time in the yards.

The unions want overtime for the extra two hours. They also want time-and-a-half pay for holidays, which they do not get now.

They want special pay for the seventh day. They want reimbursement for food and lodgings if they are forced to stay overnight at the end of a run.

THEY WANT additional pay for split shifts on short turn-arounds — not only on commuter runs but if they take a train out in the morning and then return with another late in the day.

The Job For All

By David Lawrence

What About Foreign Aid In The Future?

Foreign aid is just a headline phrase to millions of American readers. To Congress, it is a perplexing segment of an already top-heavy budget.

To the taxpayers, it's either an unnecessary expense or an expenditure that at least needs cutting.

Actually, foreign aid is the David Lawrence most costly and perhaps the greatest adventure in humanitarianism and unselfishness that any single nation has ever undertaken in world history.

Even if the program stopped tomorrow, the record of the United States, so far as altruistic purpose is concerned, would outshine what any other nation has ever attempted. Some estimates have been published which indicate that about 100 billion dollars, virtually one-third of the national debt of the United States, has been spent on aid to the rest of the world from America. This includes military help and economic and technical projects, both loans and grants — money, materials, supplies and personnel.

But the question today is what to do about financing all this for the future.

President Kennedy tactfully appointed a special commission to make a study and a report.

He knew that nothing was to be gained by defending everything that has been done and that far more support would be obtained in Congress and among the American people if the government's policies were based on needed reforms and corrections.

BUT EVEN SO comprehensive a report as was recently submitted by the committee headed by Gen. Lucius Clay does not come to grips with the problem of how to deal with this relatively new and baffling challenge in world history. Nor did the secretary of state, Dean Rusk, by his lengthy and earnest statement to the House Foreign Affairs Committee last week, meet the real issue.

It is this: Should the United States do the job virtually alone?

Stated briefly, a major question is not how much the United States can give away each year but whether the strategy behind the giving is well conceived and whether it is an attempt to do too much with too little.

Also, it may be questioned whether all sections of the ambitious program are really feasible and can ever accomplish their aims.

Secretary Rusk oversimplifies the argument by pointing to the areas in the world where America's financial assistance has had fruitful results in the sense that Communist influence has been diminished.

He made a serious mistake, however, in the following comment in testimony before the House Committee on Foreign Affairs: "There is nothing that the Communists want more than to see the 'Yanks go Home' — not only from Western Europe, but from the Mediterranean, South Asia, the Far East, Latin America, Africa, everywhere.

"If we Yanks come home, the Communists will begin to take over. Why any American would want to cooperate with that global strategy is beyond my understanding. But that is what sharp cuts in our foreign-aid program would mean."

THIS IS an erroneous interpretation of the speeches and statements of those who have wanted the foreign aid program revised for the principle itself has been widely approved.

What is doubted is whether the United States is administering the program efficiently and whether the American taxpayer has resources enough to continue aid to 85 countries in the world on the scale of the last decade and a half.

The cry that if billions aren't spent, "the Communists will take over" has a hollow sound today.

The impression is conveyed that the United States is buying friendship with dollars not only in the Americas but throughout the world.

The feeling prevails in the underdeveloped countries that if the United States doesn't furnish money, the Russians will. One side is played off against the other.

The United States, by its projects, cannot change the habits of human nature and produce intelligent leaders and democratic institutions merely by supplying funds or by the work of thousands of boys and girls in the Peace Corps.

Missionaries from many countries have for decades been helpful in the slow process of bringing civilization to lands where savagery has prevailed. It isn't a foreign aid task for the United States alone.

The United States may have to assume military leadership in providing missiles and other weapons for defense of the free world, but the American people do not have the sole duty or obligation in the realm of world philanthropy.

THE COMMUNIST impetus to the liberation and independence movements have been effective in Africa and Southeast Asia only because no over-all plan of foreign aid, coincident with the gradual withdrawal of European colonialism, was launched.

The foreign aid problem is not just a contest with the Soviet government. It's a project for all of the free nations together, and the sooner some common sense is applied to the organization of the whole project on a multi-nation basis, the quicker will the various countries on the underdeveloped category be started on the road to real progress without the rivalries and blackmail and extortion that characterize so many of the foreign aid programs of today.

Jumping To Conclusions

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Jumping to conclusions—and how many do you agree with?

Medicine can sometimes do you more harm than good.

At least a third of the medicine taken by people over 35 is probably unnecessary—and represents the formation of a bad habit instead of a good one.

Instead of reaching for a headache tablet, a pep pill or a tranquilizing tablet, a potion or a lotion, they could better banish fatigues and fears from their lives by walking an hour more a day and sleeping an hour more each night.

Medicine taken as a substitute for healthy common sense is nothing but a menace.

Ten active bowlers are worth more to the country—and to themselves—than 100 sedentary baseball fans.

One of the wryest prices of middle age is that you so seldom open your mail with a warm sense of expectancy. If it isn't a bill, it's somebody trying to sell you something you don't really need or want.

I always feel sorry for a teenage girl whose mother wears a pony tail so she can look young, too.

Nothing starts the week off better than to meet a polite driver on the Monday morning bus.

Ever notice how there's always a doorman around to help you out of a cab when you're in perfect health? But where do they all hide when you're on crutches?

It is a waste of sympathy to feel sorry for yourself when the sun is out. Always save your self-pity, as you do your money, for a rainy day.

Perhaps we'd be more responsible fathers if our employers graded us periodically — and we had to take our report cards home for the kids to sign.

Whenever I see a cranky man or woman I always wonder if the real cause of their bad temper may be the fact they are wearing shoes half a size too small. Much of the tension in modern life springs from failure to buy shoes that fit properly.

I feel more uplifted standing on a hill at twilight and hearing distant church bells in a valley than I do seated in a concert hall listening to the finest symphony orchestra on earth.

There are some goals in life that can never be achieved. No matter how dearly a man loves his wife he can never quite afford to rent an apartment that has all the closet space she'd like.

The biggest single illusion in modern business is that you can get rid of a problem by sending 10 carbon copies of it to others instead of solving it yourself.

Is There Life After Death?

Researchers Hunt Proof

(After Hamlet talked with the ghost of his father, he said to his friend, "There are more things in heaven and earth, Horatio, than are dreamed of in your philosophy." Modern scholars, too, are interested in apparitions and spirit communications, often as possible proofs that human life continues after physical death. The Rev. Dr. Thomas S. Kepler examines these psychic researches in the second of five articles taken from his book, "The Meaning and Mystery of the Resurrection".

By DR. THOMAS S. KEPLER

There are some today who find their chief proof for life after death as they delve into psychic research, backing up their arguments with the new views of science regarding the nonmaterial nature of the universe.

Frederick W. H. Myers, Sir Oliver Lodge, Alexis Carrel and J.B. Rhine are four scholars different in their approaches yet all relating their thoughts to the mental nature of the universe and the validity of extrasensory perception.

Wrote Frederick W. H. Myers: "I have assumed that man is an organism informed or possessed by a soul. This view obviously involves the hypothesis that we are living in two worlds at once, a planetary life in this material world, to which the organism is intended to react; and also a cosmic life in that spiritual or metetherial world, which is the native environment of the soul."

"We gradually discovered that the accounts of apparitions at the moment of death — testifying to a supersensory communication between the dying man and the friend who sees him — led on without perceptible break to apparitions occurring after the death of the person seen, but while that death was not known to the perceptive; and thus, apparently due, not to mere brooding memory, but to a continued action of that departed spirit."

THE RESEARCHES of Sir Oliver Lodge led him to see his universe in this manner:

"I have gradually come to the view that the main realities of the universe are not in matter at all, but in the ether in space. We ask: Shall we survive? Survive what — our temporary and indirect and secondary connection with matter? You see that this question of survival ... is what we used to call a husteron proteron — ('this cart before the horse.') The marvel is that we are associated with matter at all."

Thus Sir Oliver Lodge views man's place in the physical world as a temporary abode, while the spiritual world is his everlasting reality.

Experience of mankind has shown that the higher conceptions of the world, which lie in the realms of the poetic, artistic and often also in the realm of the immaterial and the unseen, which is the world of the ideal.

When our spirits attain this ethereal region, no longer imprisoned by the realm of the senses, we shall be unshackled from our limitations of the present world. We shall then be "at home."

Dr. Alexis Carrel, a medical doctor with the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, also saw the spiritual nature of the universe where extrasensory perception is possible.

"The beauty pursued by the mystic is still richer and more indefinable than the ideal of the artist ... It requires an elevation of the mind toward a being who is the source of all things ... whom the mystic calls God."

"He who wants to undertake this rough and difficult journey must renounce all the things of this world and, finally, himself..."

His mind escapes from space and time ... He reaches the stage of unitive life ... He is in God and acts with him.

"(There is) the existence of a psychic principle capable of evolving outside the limits of our bodies ... Sometimes ... personality seems really to extend beyond physiological duration."

J. B. Rhine of Duke University in recent years in his experiments has reported instances in which persons "knew" about the deaths of loved ones before the news was given them in a conventional way.

CLAIRVOYANCE and precognition prove that mind can transcend both space and time, which possibly intimates immortality on the scientific level. According to Rhine:

"Now all that immortality means is freedom from the effects of space and time; death seems to be purely a matter of coming to a halt in the space-time universe. Therefore the conclusion that there is at least some sort of technical survival would seem to follow as a logical derivation from the ESP (extrasensory perception) research."

Numerous persons today are undoubtedly influenced by the thinking of such persons as Myers, Lodge, Carrel and Rhine to believe in the spiritual nature of the universe, the nonmaterial nature of the real self and consequently in the survival of man beyond the grave.

When Christian people are convinced of these tenets regarding man and his universe, they are naturally further convinced regarding the reality of Jesus' resurrection from the grave, even though the words "resurrection" and "immortality" may not have quite the same connotation.

Board Favors Planned Sales Tax Increase public schools, as recommended by the Ohio Council for Education, has not been made.

It also points out the residents of Wellsville voted 5 additional mills for operating expenses and the county property reappraisal has increased personal and property tax. Based on this, the board stated it recognizes that property owners have assumed "more than their share of the financial burden of supporting the schools, thereby showing the need for the increased tax."

Supt. Lowell Myers reported Rep. Wetzel said he would favor any bill and vote in accordance with the desires of local Boards of Education.

The board also discussed a meeting to be held by all school boards in Columbiana County April 18 at Wellsville. Rep. Wetzel and Rep. Robert Longworth, chairman of the house education committee, will be present.

They are to be sent a list of the bills in which area board members are interested, and these will be discussed.

In other business, the board accepted the resignations of Walter Kestner, industrial arts instructor; Mrs. Grace Hartman, science teacher, and Mrs. Roanne Davis, elementary teacher. All are effective June 1.

The board also accepted the resignation of James R. Judge as a custodian.

Paul Hartford, 1765 Maple Ave., was hired as custodian of the Beacom Memorial gym. His salary will start at $2,900 and will be raised to $3,100 after a 90-day probation period.

Hartford's name was taken from an old Civil Service list. Janitors are no longer employed under Civil Service, but the board referred to the eligibility list in securing a replacement.

Applications were received from Richard Burns and James W. Salsberry for custodian work. They presently are working part-time.

The board approved the summer driver education program to be set up in accordance with the regulations of the State Department of Education at a fee of $5 per student.

Myers said Grafton Motor Co. of Wellsville will provide a new car for the program. It will be open to all interested students. If necessary, those graduating this year will be given first preference. If enough apply, two classes will be held daily.

Approval was given the seventh grade to make a field trip April 27 to the Carnegie Museum, Buhl Planetarium, Pittsburgh Zoo and Airport. The eighth grade will make a similar trip May 4.

Requirements for a tuberculosis testing program for all school employees were discussed. A letter was received from Dr. D. H. Beaumont, city health commissioner, thanking the board for co-operation in the testing program conducted for all students last fall. He suggested an annual program be adopted.

Myers said it has been recommended that each employee present to his office by Jan. 1 of each year a certificate of a tuberculosis test. Free testing will be made available to the employees.

Myers reported on instructors attending various area workshops and institutes.

He said he will leave today for West Virginia to visit five schools in a teacher recruiting program. He also plans to visit Kent State University and other colleges.

Permission was granted Donald Lowe, John Mackov and Kyle Baker to attend an Ohio Education meeting in Columbus tonight for a discussion on state tax laws. They will return tomorrow.

The board discussed a plan set up for dismissal of students in event of an atomic attack in the area. The children will be sent home. The parents are responsible for the safety of their children at home in event of an emergency.

Myers said the board was invited to a "get together" Thursday, June 13, with other area school boards at Leetonia. The members accepted.

A general discussion was held on installation of new windows in the high school building and windows and a new floor in the gymnasium and construction of a basketball storage crib. The board decided to hold an informal meeting next Tuesday night to discuss the specifications for the floor and the type of windows wanted for the high school.

This is all planned as part of the summer program. The board will meet April 20 at 9 a. m. to tour the buildings to discuss other work to be done during the summer.

A lengthy discussion was held on industrial training programs.

Group Wins Tax Enjoiner

assessment laws rather than the laws themselves.

However, the suit challenges the law itself in one respect. It attacks the provision under which the state tax commissioner may order a county assessor to use results of a professional appraisal as a basis of property assessments for tax purposes if the assessor has failed to do so.

IN FEBRUARY, County Court adopted the 1962 assessments as a basis for the 1963 valuations, but this ruling was changed by Battle's directive.

Granting of the temporary injunction apparently means that the state tax commissioner's office faces a delay until April 18 or after in stamping a final O.K. on levy rates submitted last month by municipalities and other levying bodies in the county in connection with figuring new budgets.

At the hearing Monday, Judge McClure asked the opposing parties to reach a "gentleman's agreement" until April 18 so the complete taxation program for the county would remain in "status quo."

However, neither side could reach an amicable agreement on the jurist's request and the injunction was ordered.

REPRESENTING the state were Battle, James P. Bower of the state tax chief's legal division and Jack McCarty, an aide from the attorney general's office. Prosecuting Atty. Floyd R. Tarr and Atty. Don Donell, assistant, represented County Court. Atty. Pietranton represented the petitioning property owners.

After Judge McClure clarified to the attorneys that his granting of the injunction would prevent taxation proceedings against only the eight persons listed in the petition, Atty. Pietranton told the court that there would be many more petitions against the reappraisal program filed in Circuit Court in the next few days.

He told the court that many other attorneys and individuals in the county had asked to join his petition, but were waiting to learn the outcome of the hearing. He said that now the injunction has been granted in behalf of the eight, others will probably file petitions in attempts to hold up taxation proceedings against themselves.

AT THE OUTSET, Bower presented the court and Pietranton with an order asking for dismissal of the charges. Battle said later that the dismissal order alleges that Pietranton has adequate remedy against the county court and tax commissioner under the state law and that by bringing the suit he will do "irreparable damage" to the state tax office, county court and assessor.

Pietranton said he was only asking that the taxpayers be permitted nine more days to protest their assessments to the County Court, sitting as a Board of Equalization and Review. He claimed that court was to sit as the board for all 28 days in February, but was in session only 19 days.

Battle said the dismissal order grants that nine more days should be given for the County Court to hear complaints. However, the two parties could not come to terms. Judge McClure granted them permission to attempt to resolve their differences out of court anytime before April 18.

tact when the experts finally managed to open the safe door after 5 Monday afternoon.

Opening the scorched safe required more than four hours work by the locksmiths, who worked in shifts and used two full tanks of oxygen or acetylene to complete the job.

Authorities said the yeggs apparently planned at first to remove the safe from the vault room. But special construction of the concrete and reinforced steel vault room would have prevented this.

The safe was placed in its present location and then the vault room was built around it. Doors to the vault room are considerably more narrow than the width of the safe.

Investigating officers also said that the extra-hard metal used in construction of the safe may have also prevented the yeggs from gaining entrance with their torches. The metal is said to be almost burnproof and welds together when heat is withdrawn.

An empty oxygen or acetylene tank was left at the scene by the safecrackers. They had apparently exhausted their supply and gave up with the approach of dawn Monday.

Entrance was gained to the safe by breaking through a door of the vault room. An employee of the American Totalisator Co. made the discovery.

The attempted burglary was apparently made between midnight Sunday and dawn Monday.

The yeggs employed a lookout while the "torchers" attempted to burn his way into the one-year-old safe, investigating officers said. A Risher machinegun used by guards during transportation of track funds was found in one end of the grandstand. It is normally stored in the vault room. The vault room itself is located under the north end of the grandstand.

The safe was believed to have contained the proceeds from Thursday's and Saturday's racing program.

Deputies were examining fingerprints taken at the scene, attempting to learn if any are those of persons unauthorized to be in the vault room or safe area.

It was the second breaking and entering in eight days of a race track property owned by James F. Edwards, operator of Waterford Park and Wheeling Downs.

On April 1, an attempted safe cracking at his quarters at Wheeling Downs ended up with the loss of some $450 in liquor. The safe was eventually dumped in a hedge after the burglars were unable to open it.

be clear for action on the request.

Councilman Joseph Dornon reported the Center Township - Lisbon dump southwest of the village is in "deplorable" condition. Mayor Dean Stockman said action will be taken to clean up the site.

Council also discussed several pieces of used equipment which have been offered to the village, including a highlift and a street sweeper. The equipment is scheduled to be demonstrated for officials. No action was taken immediately for lack of funds.

Ed Wolfe filed a request through Councilman Clyde Pike for establishment of a parking stall in front of Wolfe's store on S. Park Ave. The space would be used for a station wagon utilized for deliveries, Wolfe said. No action was taken.

Bills of $3,231 were ordered. Next meeting is April 22 at 7:30 p. m.

Teacher Killed, Student Injured In 2-Car Crash

CLEVELAND (AP)—A two-car collision has claimed the life of a high school teacher and hospitalized a college freshman.

Brother Edward C. Spang, 38, was killed Monday night after being thrown from his car. It was struck broadside at an intersection in suburban Euclid by another auto driven by Sam Edge, 18, of Willowick, police said.

Authorities said they were pursuing the youth's car at the time of the accident because it had been spotted speeding earlier in Willowick.

Edge was listed in fair condition at Euclid-Glenville Hospital with chest injuries. He is a student at Kent State University.

Brother Spang was athletic director and a mathematics teacher at St. Joseph High School.

Facts in the case will go to the prosecutor.

Pope Signs New Peace Encyclical

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII signed a new encyclical on peace today in an unusual ceremony emphasizing the importance of the pontiff attached to his pronouncement.

Titled "Pacem in Terris" or "Peace on Earth," the letter is a broad appeal for world peace. It will be made public Wednesday.

It is the first papal encyclical devoted exclusively to the theme of peace.

The Pope ceremonially signed five specially printed copies of the encyclical in his private library. Four of the copies will go into the Vatican archives. The fifth will remain in the Pope's personal files.

Vatican sources could not recall a similar ceremony. Usually Popes sign their encyclicals privately, without any fanfare, and the letter is publicized only after its contents are revealed.

For Southern Local

School Addition Proposal Aired

Increased revenue needed for school operations and for a proposed junior high school addition at the new Southern Local High School near Salineville were discussed Monday night by the Board of Education and tabled for further study.

The board reviewed finances, including a current 5-mill operating levy which will expire next year and which is tentatively slated to be submitted for renewal in November.

BECAUSE of decreased state foundation aid under the charge-off arrangement, there will be a need for increased local tax revenue to maintain the present operations, and an additional levy may be sought.

Discussion was also held on the amount of bond levy needed for construction of a 12-room addition proposed at the new high school building to accommodate a centralized junior high school. Further study will be made on the needed levies.

Action was tabled on the proposed sale of the present Salineville Grade School, which will be abandoned. Elementary students next year will attend the present high school building at Salineville.

after the new high school is opened. The grade school is 68 years old.

IN OTHER action the board re-appointed enumerators for the district — Mrs. Agnes McKenzie for No. 16 and Highlandtown areas, Mrs. Susie Davis for Wayne, Mrs. Marjorie Roberts for Franklin and Mrs. Sara Ahlborn for Salineville. The board authorized start of Daylight Saving Time for the schools April 28, but postponed action on when the DST schedule will end in the fall.

The board renewed for two years the contracts for all cooks, bus drivers, custodians and the school nurse. The board also authorized use of school electrical power for operating highway caution lights to be erected near the new high school.

THE BOARD adopted the county school calendar, agreed to attend a general meeting of county school board members April 18 at Wellsville and to attend Athletic Booster Club meetings.

The board also authorized a letter to state legislators urging support for a proposed increase in the state sales tax to provide education funds.

Highway Department Sheds Hit In 3 Blazes

Fires late Monday night destroyed two State Highway Department tool sheds and damaged another in Beaver County but investigators declined to link the blazes directly to the labor trouble that has plagued the department in recent weeks.

Sheds in Brighton and Harmony Townships virtually were destroyed and another in Hanover Township was damaged badly. Large quantities of tools were lost in all three fires, authorities said.

Pennsylvania State Police called in State Fire Marshals Mike Motally and Bert Korieth to investigate. All three broke out between 10 and midnight.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Several weeks ago my husband triumphantly announced that he was giving up smoking. I was delighted, since Paul had been a heavy smoker for many years and I never believed he possessed enough will power to conquer the habit.

Paul was fine for about three days. Then he got so that he had to "go for a walk" after dinner. When he returns, after 10 minutes, he always smells of cigarette smoke. At bedtime he goes to the basement "to get something" and returns — once again, smelling of cigarette smoke.

On numerous occasions I have walked into Paul's office unexpectedly and found him smoking. The maneuvering and contortions he goes through to get rid of a cigarette are comical.

I've never said one word to him about this, but if he can't stop smoking why doesn't he admit it instead of making himself look ridiculous? — S.B.I.

Dear S.B.I.: Paul is childish. He's trying to cover up his "naughty behavior" because he's ashamed to admit he can't kick the habit.

Saying nothing. The "walks" after dinner and the trips to the basement are probably the only exercise he gets.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a doctor but I couldn't talk to a man about this so please try to help me. I am 17 years old and am built like an ironing board. I have heard of creams and oils but I'm not sure they do any good. I have also heard of an operation where a surgeon can insert paraffin cups. I would even be willing to have the operation if I thought it would help me be more attractive to fellows.

I've had only four dates in my life and I'm sure this is the reason. What boy wants to take out a girl who has no shape at all? Please tell me what to do. DATELESS.

Dear Dateless: The creams and oils do a lot of good—for the companies that sell them. I have never heard of a cream or an oil that added inches to a bustline.

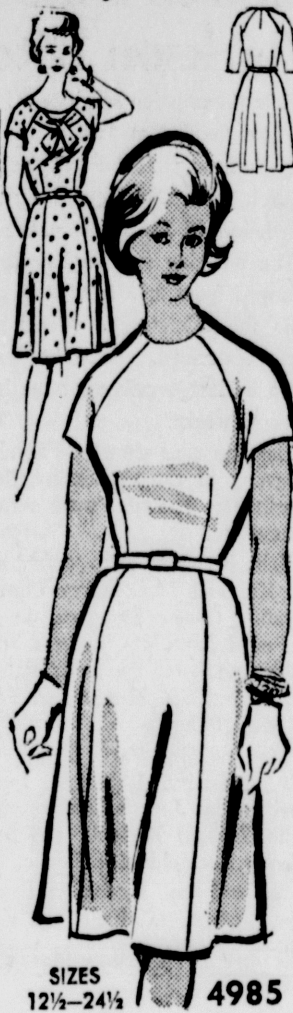

As for surgery, you'll have to see your doctor — but I'd strongly oppose such radical measures.

I don't know what kind of fellows you are trying to attract, but if they go looking for dates with a tape measure they aren't worth bothering about. I suspect your real problem is a flat personality.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Newspapers Widen Child's Interests

In some classrooms, even in the intermediate grades, you may see bulletin boards on which are mounted clippings of pictures and news items cut from newspapers and magazines. Usually these are collected and pasted by the children or a committee of them or a single child selected or appointed to Dr. Garry Meyers be responsible for this enterprise over a definite period. Often every child of the classroom is encouraged to bring some clipping. All the children may vie with one another at finding items of greatest interest to all the class, barring items of crime and violence, of course. Even the teacher may join in this activity.

SUCH DISPLAYS on the bulletin board may be especially helpful at the junior and senior high school level for making social science courses more meaningful. Some individual children choose to read these items on the bulletin board just for their own amusement. In doing so, they widen their knowledge and grow in skill at reading for meaning. The wider the variety of items, the greater the number of children responding to them.

Now and then a reading teacher or social science teacher has individual children, taking turns, read an item most appealing to the reader, sometimes discussing with the class facts related to the items. Often there will appear the picture of some famous world leader or eminent national, state or local person and a brief item about what this person has said or done.

AS CHILDREN look for items to offer for display on the bulletin board, they get good practice at weighing values. Also they gain at reading skills as they pursue papers and magazines looking for such items. How wonderful for the poor reader!

Not all the best items will come from large papers. Some may come from the community or county paper, some containing items about persons they know personally.

A word about the smaller local newspaper. In the home one member of the family may read aloud from it to the others items of great personal interest. The one who so reads may be a school child. If he has not been a good reader, this practice might cause him to become a much better one.

How much more such practice might do to help the slow reader than hours of helping him read from his school book.

A FINE PRACTICE, especially in the grades, is the writing and printing or mimeographing of a newspaper by the children themselves, with guidance, of course, by teachers. The children submitting items or preparing them for this paper, eagerly practice in expression, grammar, spelling, punctuation and the like.

How avidly many of the children read this school paper, learning thereby to read for meaning and to read faster.

Mrs. bulletin, "Home Helps for Poor Readers I & II", may be secured by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Going to Mail Box Is Big

Event at the Bob Evans Farm

If you are driving toward Gallipolis on U.S. Route 35 just outside of Rio Grande, you drive right through the Bob Evans Farm. At the lane entrance you will see the familiar Bob Evans Farm mailbox.

Bob likes to bring in the mail himself because it often is filled with letters from folks all over Ohio who regularly use Bob Evans Farms Sausage.

Last fall, Bob put out a "Country Cookbook". It contained several dozen favorite farm recipes for cooking sausage, plain and fancy. Thousands of these recipe books have been distributed.

Mail is now especially heavy at the 820-acre farm in the southern Ohio hills where all Bob Evans Farms Sausage is made, or on a second farm near Xenia, Ohio. Letters come mostly from people sending in their own favorite recipes for preparing Bob Evans Farms Sausage.

If you do not have a "Country Cookbook" and want one, send a dime to cover handling and mailing to: Bob Evans, Box 11, Gallipolis, Ohio.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Exercises Hold Key To 'Trimnastics'

Exercise guarantees the smooth fit of that smaller-sized dress. With daily "trimnastics", you can tone and tighten the muscles, overcome any hint of sagging as weight is removed, and make yourself measurably smaller.

If you happen to be more out of shape than you are, overweight, exercise is absolutely essential.

The place to begin exercise is invariably smack in the middle, for the waist and abdomen widen unduly with excess weight. However, there's no mystery about the middle spread — it's simply that fat tends to infiltrate the least-used muscles and this is where they are. Also, with no bony framework from ribs to pelvis girdle, the midsection depends solely on muscle tone for support and shape.

WHILE IT appears that the waist widens first and worst, the actual trouble is loss of tone in the abdominal muscles.

The oblique muscles which form part of the abdominal group span out bias-wise and wrap criss-cross fashion at either side of the midriff. When these muscles get flabby, the waist loses its neatly defined lines.

Ease into exercise with a bias stretch:

Position: Lying on back on floor on blanket, stretched out to full extension with right arm stretched back on floor beyond head, both legs straight down.

left. S-t-r-e-t-c-h and p-u-l-l all along the right side of the silhouette. Come back to starting position. Now, stretch left arm back on floor beyond head, left leg across right to touch toes to floor and beyond head, left leg across right to touch toes to floor and p-u-l-l again.

Repeating, keeping the movement smooth, 3 to 4 times, until you feel pleasantly, thoroughly stretched. This action scores a direct hit on the boundary lines of the figure which are often muscularly "dead" areas.

In the next exercise, the muscles participate in a lifting action.

Position: "Stand" on knees, then sit back on backs of legs. Don't try to figure this out, just do it! Hold arms out sideways, shoulder level. Pull up and in with right muscles and maintain this uplift.

Movement: Bend smoothly and slowly to right, striving to touch fingertips of right hand to floor at side while, at the same time, reaching to other side with left hand — stretch on the bias.

When you get the knack of this stretch-bend, add a lift to it. Lift — an inch off legs — as you stretch-bend to force the girdle muscles into action. Continue 8 counts, alternating sides. Relax. Later, increase the count.

MANY HAVE asked whether exercise can be continued through the menstrual period. Yes, for increased circulation is beneficial during this period. Just avoid any jumping or jarring movements for the first few days.

Send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to "Wake Up And Stretch." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of The Review. Post card requests cannot be answered.

Trial Planned In Auto Death

A jury trial was ordered Monday by Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp at Lisbon for a Hanoverton motorist accused of second degree manslaughter after his car crashed into a Hanoverton tavern Jan. 13, 1962, and killed a patron.

At a probation hearing, Judge Sharp granted Atty. J. Warren Bettis, counsel for Wayne L. Hillyer, 36, to switch his plea from guilty to not guilty. The trial tentatively is scheduled about mid-May.

Judge Sharp ordered the jury trial, declaring he believed a jury should decide the case since the results of a blood test are expected to be introduced as evidence.

Severely injured in the crash, which claimed the life of Earl McIntosh of New Garden, Hillyer did not enter the guilty plea to the charge until last Oct. 25.

Hillyer asked probation and Probation Officer Richard Rose was ordered to investigate with special emphasis on whether Hillyer was driving while intoxicated.

A blood test reportedly was taken and sent to the Cuyahoga County laboratory for analysis.

Hillyer's car went left of center, knocked down four walls and crashed into the side of the Midway Tavern in Hanoverton, killing Mr. McIntosh who was seated at the bar, authorities said.

Trustees Air Odor Charge

A reported health hazard near the Vodrey - Duke Rd. and a misunderstanding concerning improvement of Mud Ln. were discussed at a meeting of the St. Clair Township trustees Monday night.

Three residents of the Vodrey-Duke Rd. said they were not satisfied with efforts to curb an offensive odor and unsanitary conditions caused by dumping of refuse from a Cannons Mills rendering concern in a field near Vodrey-Duke Rd.

The delegation reported the firm had dumped the refuse in an open field and, after an order from the Columbiana County Health Department, plowed the refuse, leaving some exposed where it continued to be offensive and where dogs could get at it.

The trustees said jurisdiction lies with county officials, and that Prosecutor William Brokaw would be consulted. The delegation included Arthur Wilson, Thurman Rambo and William Dunlevy.

A special meeting will be held Monday night at 7 at the township hall with all property owners along Mud Ln. near Calcutta.

Because of a misunderstanding, it was reported the road improvement program will take three years instead of two as believed by residents. The meeting will be held to determine if the property owners wish to continue in the program.

The Mud Ln. delegation which met with the trustees to air the problem included Tom Lyons, Harm Larkins, Fred Wagner and Frank Mitcheson.

Beaver Local Needs

Board May Seek More Revenues

Discussion on the need for increased local tax revenue was held at a meeting of the Beaver Local School District Board of Education Monday night.

The board had originally planned on submitting a 3-mill levy on the November ballot, to provide for start of collection in 1964.

HOWEVER, with increased chargeoff on the state foundation program, reducing foundation aid available to the district, and with the local tax revenue under the present millage remaining the same, there will be a need for increased local revenue, board members pointed out. The needed millage will be established after further study.

The board last night approved the 1963 appropriation totaling $896,582, about $14,000 from the 1962 appropriation of $881,781.

The breakdown of the appropriation, with last year's figures in parenthesis, includes general fund, $711,121 ($698,847); bond retirement, $100,256 ($100,767); and cafeteria, $85,205 ($82,170).

THE DIFFERENCE is due largely to increased teacher salaries.

A meeting will be held April 22 to discuss teacher contracts. The board accepted the resignation of Harold Wylie as custodian at Elkton School, and hired Mrs. Pauline Moore, who has been substituting, as the successor to Moore who quit because of illness.

The board hired four township enumerators — Mrs. JoAnn Fisher for St. Clair, Mrs. Virginia Snyder for Madison, Mrs. Pauline Apple for Elkton and Mrs. Naomi Cope for Middletown.

A dental hygiene program of the Proctor & Gamble Co. for the fifth grade at the Beaver Local Public School was approved.

THE BOARD authorized a formal request to the County Health Department for broadening the immunization program to include fifth to 12th grade students who have come into the district without full immunization.

William Patton of East Liverpool was offered a teaching contract for 1963-64. Discussion was held on septic tanks and sanitary

Churchill Becomes U.S. Honorary Citizen Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill, the magnificent Briton, becomes officially today what he has been for two decades in the hearts of Americans—the first honorary citizen of the United States.

The bestowing of this honor, unique in history, requires only a touch of President Kennedy's pen on a bill enacted by Congress and a second signature on a presidential proclamation.

Weary now with the weight of 88 years, Sir Winston was unable to be present to receive a nation's accolade. Neither were Herbert Hoover, Harry S. Truman and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the three former presidents, able to accept Kennedy's invitation to attend.

The ceremony was carefully timed, at 3 p. m. EST, so that the British Broadcasting Corp. could bounce it off the orbiting Relay satellite and Churchill could watch it on television in his London home.

Sir Winston sent a special message of acceptance and appreciation to be read by his son, Randolph.

The setting was the Rose Garden, outside the White House where Churchill helped chart the strategy of global war and peered at the problems of an uneasy peace in the climactic years of a stirring career.

It was in this house that the man Britain chose as her prime minister in the moment of her greatest peril showed up suddenly and secretly a few days after Japan smashed at Pearl Harbor and the United States went limping off to war.

Side by side in the oval presidential office, Churchill and Franklin D. Roosevelt thundered at the common enemy at a joint news conference. They assured the world that Allied might ultimately would win over Germany first and then Japan. Spy-er then, Churchill climbed onto a chair, chomped a cigar, and poked his split fingers aloft in his renowned V for Victory salute.

In those desperate days of World War II, Churchill was the symbol and the leader of an indomitable Britain. It didn't matter that Churchill twice had been a political turncoat and a consistent political failure. Or that he was impulsive and contradictory, and detested as well as admired in his own land.

Planes, 1 With 52 Aboard, Have Near-Collision

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — An American Airlines turboprop Electra with 52 passengers aboard and an F101 Voodoo jet fighter were forced into evasive action Monday night to avoid a collision at 22,000 feet, an Air Force spokesman said today.

The airliner went into a sudden plunge. The jolt shook the craft and injured five passengers, none seriously, an airline spokesman said.

The airliner, on the Boston-to-Detroit Flight 465, was jerked by the pilot, Capt. Mel T. Biederman of Ann Arbor, Mich., into what airline employees called "evasive action" to avoid the all-weather fighter.

The Air Force spokesman said the Voodoo was based at Griffiss Air Force Base, Rome, N.Y.

The near-collision occurred about five miles north of Hancock Field here.

The Air Force spokesman could give no estimate of how close the planes came.

"They were close," he said.

Out Of The Air

'Do The Shah Of Iran'

When you get around to making your first television documentary, just remember the three easy steps: (1) Point your cameras at the subject matter (a factory, a dirty river, a hospital ward) and let 'em roll (2) stage an argument between an in and an out, a left and a right (3) take a stand of your own that is not likely to start a brawl in a Punksu-tawney, Pa., saloon. You then can go home convinced that you've improved the common weal.

YOUR ASSIGNMENT, though, becomes a bit more awesome when you're told to "do Judy Garland," or "do Robert Kennedy," or "do the Shah of Iran."

Now you must capture something that's not as clean-cut as a public issue with a crisp pro and a firm con. The essence of a man is sometimes terribly disguised or hidden, sometimes blatantly obvious and simple, and sometimes as complex as the instructions for parcheesi.

I suggest you study the work of a trio of NBC documentarians—Donald Hyatt, Fred Freed and David Brinkley—who recently set out of "do" Darryl F. Zanuck, Shelley Berman and Jimmy Hoffa, respectively, and are respectively graded with a C minus, a B plus and an A.

DON HYATT, executive producer of "The World of Darryl F. Zanuck" (as well as the recent salute to the late Gary Cooper, "The Tall American"), is a gentle man, obviously, who can be nothing less than gentle with his material.

And being gentle with a man like Zanuck is like painting lipstick on a grizzly bear; your work is apt to get smeared.

Zanuck's latter-day career as an independent producer of pallid failures was omitted entirely. We saw actors (Clark Gable, Shirley Temple) who were hardly "Zanuck stars." And a viewer got the feeling, throughout the program, that he was watching the coming attractions for "Cleopatra."

HYATT'S OTHER recent report, "The Tall American," was, with some excuse, also an exercise in gentleness.

What could have been an incisive study of one aspect of America's image of itself turned out to be nothing more than a pleasant little fan magazine piece, and I'm sure Hyatt still is in good standing in that Punksu-tawney saloon.

Fred Freed's closeup of Shelley Berman was something else entirely. Freed caught Berman raw, after following the fellow around for three months, and then got Berman's blessing on the project. As a result, we got a good hard look into the private hell of being funny. One of Freed's prime qualities as a documentarian obviously is perseverance.

"INSIDE JIMMY HOFFA," the David Brinkley special, already has had two major critics charging that it was a bit too kindly disposed toward the union leader. Hoffa, who can take care of himself, never was made to seem the victim of a journalistic ambush, it's true. And his stance was not one of imminent self-destruction. But I can't believe that Jimmy Hoffa won any new friends at David Brinkley's little house party the other night.

To give Hoffa his due, though, he made some points—one regarding life as a jungle (at least for the human animal who has been wounded) and another regarding the real necessity for invoking the Fifth Amendment (at least for a man like Hoffa).

He also said: "My ethics are very simple. Live and let live; and those who try to destroy you—make it your business to see that they don't and that they have problems."

SUCH STATEMENTS are not what you would call disarming. The man's expression throughout the interview section of the program was as twinklingly sunny as a haddock's. His Teamsters—in the various union halls the Brinkley cameras invaded—seemed to be conducting a parody of "Some Like It Hot" and "The Untouchables."

And Brinkley's summing up ("32 convictions are 52 convictions and no amount of talk will change that") bristled like a pin cushion. Brinkley said at the outset that his job was "to capture some of the character and flavor of the biggest and perhaps the toughest union in the U.S."

He did that. He also impressed the personality of James Hoffa indelibly on the television screen. That's a very large accomplishment.

Jurisdiction Ruling Favors Pleas Courts

CINCINNATI (AP) — Coram pleas courts can determine their own jurisdiction, according to a ruling of the 3rd District Ohio Court of Appeals. The court ruled Monday on the claim of a store operator that Sunday closing law charges against him could not be brought in Butler County Common Pleas Court.

Isadore Bier, manager of Rink's Bargain City in Fairfield, argued that the charge against him was a misdemeanor and could not be brought in the court unless the affidavit was signed by the county prosecutor. Bier said the affidavit charging him was signed by a private citizen.

Woman Would Marry Sheppard By Proxy

CLEVELAND (AP) — An attractive blonde German woman says she is willing to marry convicted slayer Dr. Sam Sheppard by proxy, if necessary, so she can visit him in prison.

Mrs. Ariane Tebbenjohanns said Monday night she has asked an attorney to work out details for a proxy marriage.

The 33-year-old divorcee came to Cleveland after conducting a romance by mail with Dr. Sam, 39, who is serving a life sentence in Ohio Penitentiary for killing his wife in July 1954.

Dr. Sam was transferred from Marion Correctional Institution back to the penitentiary after the romance attracted world-wide publicity several months ago. Mrs. Tebbenjohanns met him once at Marion but has found visiting letters are stricter at the penitentiary.

Goldwater Lowers Bars For Nomination 'Draft'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater has let the bars down for supporters to find out what enthusiasm they can generate with a move to draft him for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination.

Goldwater's reaction to the announcement Monday of the formation of a national draft committee was a resigned shrug and the statement, "If they want to waste their time and money, that's their business."

Acknowledging that he knows most of the people involved, Goldwater disclaimed any connection with the movement started by Peter O'Donnell Jr., Texas Republican state chairman.

Goldwater said in an interview, he is "only running in Arizona" for re-election to the Senate next year. He said the presidential nomination movement "will have to get along without any help from me."

"These things are springing up all over the country" he said. "I've just given up trying to stop them."

Goldwater said he knew nothing about the financing of the O'Donnell organization except that he

Cincinnati, Baltimore Get Fast Break From Gate

Rest Of Majors
Open Play Today

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
Cincinnati Manager Fred Hutchinson played a punctuation game in his player rating book today, straightening the question marks following the names of Frank Robinson, Gene Freese and Pete Rose into big, fat exclamation points.

Robinson provided the power and Freese and Rose handled the finesse as the Reds began their bid for the National League pennant with a 5-2 victory Monday over the revamped Pittsburgh Pirates in the traditional baseball opener, netting 28,896 at Crosley Field.

In the traditional American League opener at Washington, before 43,022, President Kennedy threw out the first ball, but Jim Gentile and Boog Powell hit two balls out of the park for a 3-1 Baltimore triumph.

The rest of the AL gets under way today with the New York Yankees at Kansas City, Chicago at Detroit, Cleveland at Minnesota and Boston at Los Angeles in the only night game.

The Reds will help Philadelphia open its schedule in a night after the rest of the league gets under way with an afternoon program that has Los Angeles at Chicago, San Francisco at Houston, Milwaukee at Pittsburgh and St. Louis at New York.

The Reds made good use of their head start as Robinson belted a first-inning two-run homer that sent Cincinnati ahead to stay while Rose and Freese piled up the double plays in support of Jim O'Toole's six-hit pitching.

Robinson hit under .200 last April and seemed headed for another slow start when he came up with a sore shoulder in spring training.

But the slugging outfielder who wound up batting .342 with 39 homers and 136 runs batted in as the Reds finished third last year, slashed a line drive in his first at bat, off Pittsburgh starter Earl Francis.

Freese, virtually a complete loss to the Reds last year after he suffered a broken leg in spring training, legged out an infield hit in a two-run second inning uprising and moved well on the double play by starting one.

Rose, a rookie not even on the Reds' roster, started at second base in place of veteran Don Blasingame, was involved in three smooth double plays and drew a walk before Robinson's homer.

Leo Cardenas' two-run second inning single and Gordie Coleman's homer in the sixth accounted for the Reds' other runs. Donn Clendenon's homer in the fourth got the Pirates started. Bob Bailey scored the other run in the seventh when he singled and moved around on a balk, a walk and an error by O'Toole.

Pickin, Banfield Share Honors In Opening Events

William Pickin and Dr. H. F. Banfield shared honors in the opening golf events of the season this weekend at the East Liverpool Country Club.

President Kennedy, who says he has his good months and his bad ones, and the Washington Senators, who have mostly bad ones, are off and losing in the American League race.

The active baseball season is all over for the President, but the Senators, last a year ago, have 161 games to go.

The Baltimore Orioles, on the strength of two quick home runs in the second inning and the fact that most of the Washingtons hit the ball squarely at somebody, tripped the Senators 3-1 in the traditional opener in the national capital Monday.

There were 43,000 on hand, including the President, whose first and only pitch was low and wide. The New York Yankees begin their drive for a fourth straight flag at Kansas City. Although for a while this spring they had an injury list almost as long as the roster, only Roger Maris, hampered by a pulled left leg muscle, and pitching ace Whitey Ford, who has a sore left shoulder, will miss the opener.

Ray Herbert, 20-9, will pitch for the Chicago White Sox against Jim Bunning, 19-10, at Detroit.

Bill Monbouquette, 15-13, will be on the mound for the Boston Red Sox against Ken McBride, 11-5, in Los Angeles, and Jim Grant, 7-10, will hurl for the Cleveland Indians against Camilo Pascual, 20-11, for the home Minnesota Twins, in the other opener.

The Senators and Orioles will be idle.

There are five games on the National League slate—the defending champion San Francisco Giants at Houston, Milwaukee at Pittsburgh, the Los Angeles Dodgers at the Chicago Cubs, Cincinnati at Philadelphia at night and the St. Louis Cardinals at New York.

Lefty Steve Barber won the opener for the Orioles, but he had his troubles. The fastballer, who was in the Army much of last season and then got sick when he came back full time, was not overly sharp.

He gave up only seven hits, but the Senators hammered the ball hard. Stu Miller came on in the ninth inning, after a lead-off double by Minnie Minoso, and got the side out.

All the Baltimore scoring was packed into a second-inning burst. With Don Rudolph, the loser, on the mound, Jim Gentile led off with a homer over the fence in right field. Al Smith drew a walk, and Boog Powell homered to the same place. The Orioles collected only four more hits.

Washington, presenting an almost completely new cast, got its run in the fifth inning, when Larry Osborne singled and Don Leppert doubled him to third. He scored on an infield out.

who scored 20 points. Don Burdick was second with 19 with Everston Hall scoring 18. Russ Smith captured the second division with 13 points.

Yesterday's Stars
PITCHING—Jim O'Toole, Reds, won traditional National League opener, allowing Pittsburgh only six hits in 5-2 victory.

BATTING—Boog Powell, Orioles, hit two-run homer in second inning that proved decisive in 3-1 victory at Washington in traditional presidential opener.

Beaver Local's Horger Hurls First No-Hitter

The baseball season is young, but Dennis Horger, a sophomore, already has a no-hitter to his credit.

The Beaver Local hurler pitched a no-hit, no-run contest Monday at Chester blanking the Panthers.

4-0. Horger fanned nine Chester batters in obtaining a pitcher's dream and only walked three batters.

He was tough when he had to be. In the fifth inning he walked the first two batters to face him but then retired the next three.

Horger also had some fine backing from his teammates as Walt Schukert, the Beavers' center-fielder, made a fine catch of Cheveron's linedrive in the fourth inning. Dave Morse, who handles the hot corner for Beaver Local, also turned in two fine infield plays to prevent any hits.

A quartet of Riverview Florists, Wellsville Shaffer Trucking, Higgs Inn and White Insurance will sound off in the semi-finals of the 38th but abbreviated edition of the Tri-State basketball tournament tonight at Memorial Auditorium.

The semi-finalists qualified Monday night and represent what remains of the starting field of 10 teams which entered the two-day event.

JOE'S ALL-STARS of Akron, the defending champ, did not enter this year so that means a new champion will be crowned tonight.

A flip of the coin at 7 p. m. will decide what two teams play the first game at 7:30. The championship contest should get underway about 10.

Paired in the semi-final round are Riverview Florists, listing talent from Youngstown University, and Wellsville Shaffer Trucking, Shaffer's have former Kent State cagers.

MEETING in the other bracket are Higgs Inn and Francis White Insurance. Higgs Inn shows ex-Potter stars plus Ed Fleming of Niagara U. fame and Myles Witchey former West Liberty great. White Insurance, originally listed several Westminster stars including Ron Galbreath but he did not perform Monday as White's squeezed by United Electronics 43-40.

Higgs Inn had the toughest battle on the way to the semi-finals defeating Geneva College, which carried the Amo's Esso banner, in an overtime.

THE TWO teams came out even at 52-52 at the end of regulation time. Jim Irons put Amo's in front in the overtime period, 54-52, but Herb Lake sank a basket to tie the score then Jim "Whitey" Betts calmly converted two fouls that proved the margin of victory.

Fleming came through with a 21-point effort to pace Higgs while Witchey contributed 16 big points to the attack. Irons, one of Geneva's all-time greats, flipped in 21 points for Amo's.

SHAFER'S TRUCKING, fresh from winning the Wellsville tournament two weeks ago, rolled to a 57-43 win over Bloom Drugs of Canton. Jim Maddox, most valuable player at Wellsville for the 1962 tourney, led the way with 16 points while Bob Greene of Akron U. tossed in 14. Tom Shaffer topped Bloom's with 12.

Riverview Florists with Billy Davis, former Mt. Union standout, scoring 16 points eliminated Uncle Pete's 63-47. Riverview is back attempting to regain the Tri-State crown lost last year. The Florists won the title two years ago. Leading Uncle Pete's was Ray "Pick" Rolley with 15.

UNCLE PETE'S won the opening game of the evening, before dropping out of the tourney, with a 55-50 decision over George Bright's. In that contest Rolley was high again with 20 while Steve Baldwin added 15. The Cline brothers Wayne and Dean paced Bright's with 17 and 15 points respectively.

United Electronics came close to gaining the semi-finals before bowing to White Insurance 43-40. Ferguson led White's with 11 points while Don Fowler, the ex-Newell High star, scored 14 for the Electronics five.

United Electronics came out on top in an earlier game by defeating World Book Store, 53-38. Ted Robinson, the former Chester flash, scored 18 points to lead the attack. Jackson also tallied 18 points for the World Book five.

Another Boxer Injured, Ring Probes Continue

By The Associated Press
Another Australian boxer was stricken after a ring beating and was taken to a hospital with a mild concussion today, as investigations into the recent rash of boxing deaths were pushed on several fronts.

The Vatican newspaper L'Osservatore also launched a new attack against boxing, calling it a "means of useless massacre."

The boxer, Australian bantam-weight champion Billy Males, was taken to St. George's Hospital in Sydney, where his condition was listed as not serious.

Males began vomiting after he lost a 12-round decision to Gene Aragon of the Philippines.

Two Australian boxers, pro Norman Smith and amateur Enzo Barelli, died of ring injuries last week, along with Francisco Velasquez, 19, a Puerto Rican in the U.S. Army, who died after an amateur bout in Carbondale, Pa.

Vasquez' death was the fifth of the year, including feather-weight champion Davey Moore, who died March 25, four days after he lost his title to Sugar Ramos in Los Angeles.

In the aftermath of the death in Pennsylvania, the Rev. Joseph T. Conboy, moderator of athletics at St. Michael's School for Boys at Hoban Heights said the school has dropped boxing.

A St. Michael's boy, Earl Johnson, 17, landed the blow that knocked out Velasquez.

TOTAL PERFORMANCE:

YOU'LL KNOW WHY FORD SWEEP THE FIRST FIVE PLACES AT DAYTONA...WHEN YOUR '63 FORD IS STILL GOING STRONG YEAR AFTER YEAR

Daytona's big, banked oval puts unbelievable stresses and strains on engines, steering gears and frames. The Fords that won at Daytona took all the punishment this famous track could dish out over 500 miles of grueling competition without missing a beat.

In this toughest of all stock car events, mechanical failures claimed over fifty per cent of the starting field. But of twelve Fords entered, nine went the distance. Ford took six of the first ten places.

Five-hundred-mile events like Daytona are a public demonstration of toughness, reliability and sheer engineering excellence that are part of the new generation of Fords. A test like this can't be duplicated on anybody's testing grounds—it's run right out in the open. Any car can enter. But only the car that has the best total combination of strength, balance, precision control and road-clinging suspension can win... that's what we mean by total performance.

Visit your Ford Dealer before you buy any other new car. Here's what you'll find: a new kind of total-car durability, a new kind of handling ability, a suspension that is startlingly smooth yet sticks to the road like tar. If you haven't driven one lately, you can't really know what a new Ford is like. Remember, it's built by Ford, it's built for performance... total performance!

Midland Nine West Beaver Drops Opener Nipped, 2-1

Base hits were few and far between as Paul Farnan's Midland Leopards nine bowed to the veteran New Brighton Lions, 7-1, in the opening game of the Section 4 race at Midland, Monday afternoon. New Brighton is the defending champ.

The powerful Brighton nine blasted Midland hurlers Henry Slappy and Ron Brown for 10 hits while their own moundman, Chuck Watson, was limiting the Leopards to only three safeties. Watson struck out 12 Leopards batters, six on called third strikes. In the third and seventh innings he set the side down on strikes. Watson walked only two batters.

Jim Hutkay, Lion centerfielder, sparked their offense with a home run and two singles in three trips to the plate.

Shannon had his only extra base blow for Midland, a double in the first frame.

Slappy, the losing pitcher, was touched for a pair of runs in both the first and third innings by the powerful Brighton offense. Brown labored the final two frames and was hit for three runs.

Sam Zigerelli sparked on defense for the Leopards. The short and stocky junior ambled down the left-field line, making a couple of outstanding over-the-shoulder catches to retire Lion batters.

Midland's next game will come on Wednesday when they play host to the Monaca Indians in a game that was re-scheduled because Monaca's new diamond is not yet completed.

Junior Editors Quiz on THE WORLD

QUESTION: What were some of the ancient ideas of what the world was like?

ANSWER: The picture at the top will look very strange to you. That's because it shows some ancient ideas about the shape of the world which were strange indeed. Most ancients thought of the earth as flat with the sun and stars revolving around it. Some thought it was square. Many old map makers drew it as a circular disk. A band of unknown ocean was supposed to surround the land. The ancients thought there was an edge where this stopped and were afraid that if ships sailed too far out they might fall over the edge.

What was underneath? The ancients didn't know; they talked of strange gods and creatures. One group believed the earth was balanced on the back of a gigantic turtle. The gray areas on top show the crude maps of the time, with the Mediterranean Sea which was close to their homelands in the center. Some guessed the true shape of the earth but did not sail far enough to find out. Then came the great period of discovery; Columbus and others proved the earth to be round. Such astronomers as Copernicus, Galileo, Kepler and Newton showed that the earth was not the center of the universe but only one part of it.

FOR YOU TO DO: Under "map" in the encyclopedias in your library you can find out in detail what ancient maps looked like. Study the clumsy shapes of continents and seas and you will realize what a lot we have learned about our world. Eric Weitz of Duluth, Minn., wins the weekly grand prize of a set of Britannica Junior Encyclopedias for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review and you may win a set too, or the daily prize of $10.

Q. Any suggestions on the making of a good stew?

A. Be sure to brown the meat on all sides in a little fat before adding any liquid. Chopped onions may be added during the browning process, if you like. Add other vegetables just long enough before the meat is tender so that they will not be overdone in the finished product.

Q. How can I make a better job of cleaning ashtrays?

A. With denatured alcohol, a stiff brush, and lots of scrubbing. This procedure will clean either brass or copper ashtrays that are discolored by tobacco and nicotine.

Q. How can I remove mascara stains from some of my bath towels?

A. Since mascara is soluble in water, most of such stains will come out during the regular session in the washing machine.

Q. What is a good emergency cutter for angel food cake, which will avoid its mashing or crumbling?

A. A spool of No. 50 thread makes a fine tool for this job. Use the thread as you would a saw. If you wish to make layers, circle the whitecloud confection with the thread and pull.

Q. How can I make some of my hard-to-budge dresser drawers slide more easily?

A. Try inserting some thumbtacks into their runners.

Q. How can I remedy sticking drawers in some of our chests?

A. Sandpaper and varnish the edges. The varnish will keep them from swelling and shrinking. It is a good idea to varnish or paint the insides of the drawers, too.

DST To Start At Salineville On April 28

SALINEVILLE — Start of Daylight Saving Time April 28 for village residents was authorized by Council Monday night.

Council also discussed insurance for the new street truck, repairs to the Village Hall and street complaints.

Mayor Stanley Fitch reported clearance lights and other minor details are being completed for the new truck and it will be put in operation shortly.

Discussion was held on insurance for the vehicle, and it was agreed to have Karl Lindner, insurance agent, attend the next meeting April 29 to discuss transfer of the policy of the present truck.

Council authorized purchase of flares and flags for the truck.

Fitch reported George Hiner of Lisbon submitted an estimate of $800 for repairs to the Village Hall roof, saying new ridge rolls, gutters, spouting and flashing are needed. A Salem firm had previously estimated a cost of $1,600 for the work. Action on the repairs was tabled for a study of finances.

Discussion was held on conditions of two old buildings which have deteriorated. Mayor Fitch said he plans to notify the state building inspector concerning the Keating building of Main St. where the foundation is crumbling.

An attorney has advised the mayor a Church St. home is to be sold, but if there is a nuisance, it will be remedied immediately.

Pete Grollow, street supervisor, was advised to correct some sewers which have been reported clogged. Grollow reported he had difficulty in obtaining 8-inch tile needed for the work, but plans to get some Wednesday.

The village workers are to construct a brick ditch in the West End to divert water from the property of Howard Green, who said his yard is being eroded.

Gravel will also be supplied for the front of the Martha Lafferty store where investigation showed village property abuts the front property line.

Councilman Don Lewis reported he and Councilman Clyde Polen have located a mine where creek gravel can be obtained for road ballast and berms at a cost of $1.50 a 9-ton truck load. Councilmen will investigate further to see if the gravel is suitable.

The mayor said he has not received notice from the Ohio Highway Department concerning a village request to have Main St. (Route 39) resurfaced.

Solicitor Duane Yeagler reported the village's only jurisdiction concerning the Board of Public Affairs relates to the annual appropriation.

Mayor Fitch had sought to have the board extend water lines to the front of his West End property, but the board had declined. The mayor indicated he believes the village should consult with the board further on such policy.

Embezzling Count Data Told To Jury

A detailed explanation of the evidence required to return an indictment charging embezzlement was presented by Judge James G. McClure in his oral charge to the Hancock County Grand Jury that convened this morning in New Cumberland.

James C. Moore, a Weirton insurance agent, was named foreman of the panel of eight women and six men comprising the Grand Jury for the April term of Circuit Court.

Prosecuting Atty. Floyd R. Tarr, ill with influenza, was unable to be present. His office is represented by Atty. Donald Dozell, assistant prosecutor.

Tarr said yesterday he will seek an indictment charging grand larceny or embezzlement against Edward W. Mayhew, 64, of Pugh-town, accused of embezzlement of $33,797.01 in county tax funds between Jan. 1, 1941, and the fall of 1962. Mayhew has been chief tax deputy in the sheriff's office since 1933.

In his charge to the jurors, Judge McClure explained that the panel must prove three issues in order to return an indictment charging embezzlement. He said the panel must first prove that the person charged is in an official position in the county, that he is in a position to handle public funds, and also prove failure to account for any funds in his care.

Failure to account for any public funds by an official shall be deemed "prima facie" evidence in embezzlement, the judge said.

Five of the Grand Jury are from Grant District. They are Charles E. Nelson, Donna J. Nalley, James T. Burch, Joseph L. Simcox and John D. Geer.

The others are Alice W. Mitchell, William H. Meissner and Madalyn Nale, of Clay District, and Louise Ennetti, Alex Taflan Jr., Stella A. Ferrelli, Lillian Bender, Shirley Curno and Mrs. Noel Cantin of Butler District.

4 Youths Warned In Rock Throw

Four youths, nabbed by police Monday for hurling rocks over the steep hillside near the old stone quarry and endangering eastbound cars on the city freeway, were released after being questioned and warned.

Nabbed by Patrolman William A. Devon, the four denied being involved in yesterday's rock throwing. Chief Americo Radeschi said. Two other youths fled as Officer Devon arrived at the scene.

Mayor Bert H. Goodballet, Safety-Service Director Robert Owen and Chief Radeschi were investigating a complaint on Clairbourne Ave. when they spotted two youths throwing the rocks.

Patrolman Devon, who was on Dresden Ave., also saw the youths and drove to the area near Hazel St., catching the quartet.

Future offenders will be turned over to juvenile authorities, Chief Radeschi said, pointing out the rock throwing may cause a traffic accident.

Fine, Lecture Given 3 More For Speeding

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today meted out fines of $10 and $7.50 costs to three motorists cited Monday in a police department radar check on speeding on W. 8th St.

The judge lectured the three jointly on the hazards of speeding and declared: "This isn't a game; it's a dead serious affair."

The defendants were identified as:

Wendell Coble of 8th Ave., La-Croft, cited at 11:35 a. m. for driving 45 miles an hour in the 35-mile zone; Mrs. Louise B. France of Wellsville R. D. 1, arrested at 12:50 p.m. while allegedly driving 47 miles an hour, and Philip C. Hoffman, 816 Broadway, Wellsville, cited at 1:20 p.m. at an alleged speed of 44 miles an hour. All pleaded guilty.

A fourth driver cited at 2:35 p. m. yesterday posted a $32.50 bond for a hearing Wednesday at 9 a. m. She was identified as Carol Jane Morgan of Irondale, charged with driving 49 miles an hour in the same 35-mile zone on W. 8th St.

Five motorists were given similar fines in Municipal Court Monday as a result of the police department's radar check on speeders over the weekend.

The crackdown was ordered recently by Safety - Service Director Robert Owen after he and Police Chief Americo J. Radeschi said they had received complaints of an outbreak of speeding with the arrival of pleasant spring weather.

"Over 50 per cent of the nation's traffic fatalities are caused by speeding, according to statistics," the judge told the three defendants today.

"I note that the police department has started a radar check. It's a sure way of informing the public that the traffic laws must be obeyed. It's time the public realized the death toll must be curtailed."
